The prime demand of the workers, it is declared, is a guarantee against the return of military forces which is exactly what the French government demands, a foreign official said.

The occupation of the district in German regulars is held, would run exactly counter to that end and would be likely to put a stop entirely to the already diminished coal shipments from the Ruhr region under the peace treaty.

Disobedience to State and U. S. Is Claimed by Committee.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Albany, N. Y., March 30.—Charges of unfitness against the five socialist members of the New York state assembly and William August Claessens, Charles Solomon, Samuel A. Dewitt, and Samuel Orr have been sustained by a majority of the assembly's judiciary committee in a report submitted to the legislature today. It says their seats should be declared vacant.

The socialist assemblymen, the findings state, "are not obedient to the constitution and laws of the United States and the state of New York, nor desirous of the welfare of the country nor in hearty accord and sympathy with its government and institutions."

The report mentions the fact that the party's constitution provides that "any socialist elected to an office who shall in any way vote to appropriate money for military or naval purposes or war shall be expelled from the party." The report reviews evidence heard purporting to show that the socialist party opposed legislation for industrial and military conscription, pledged its members to work for the repeal of the conscription law, and advised resistance to conscription of life and labor and urged the repudiation of war debts.

Referring to the statement that some 2,000 socialists had been arrested for their activities the report says:

"It is impossible to give expression or to act upon the true doctrine of the socialist party during the war without running afoul of the criminal law of the state."

The socialist party of America is an organization or group of men combined together for the purpose of overthrowing the present government of the United States," continues the report, "and the dues-paying members of this group, in 1914, were 100,000."

ASQUITH ATTACKS IRISH HOME RULE

Pending Bill Pronounced Cumbersome Duplication and Inefficient.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
London, March 30.—Herbert H. Asquith in the house of commons today described the Irish home rule bill as a "cumbersome duplication and multiplication of institutions and offices," adding that "from the viewpoint of efficiency there is nothing to be said for it."

Mr. Asquith recalled that in 1914 he gave a pledge that Ireland should have one parliament and declared that he adhered to that view now. He said that the bill was a duplication of the trouble could not be gotten at until there was a wide reform in the government system.

Opposed by Majority.
The substitution of this bill for the measure on the statute books, Mr. Asquith continued, took from the Irish people the right to elect their own representatives to the Irish parliament. He advocated amending the 1914 home rule act, enlarging the powers of the Irish parliament and giving the south of Ireland a separate parliament.

Mr. Asquith said that he was not in favor of the bill, but he was in favor of the principle of self-government for Ireland.

JANESVILLE JEWS WILL CELEBRATE PASSOVER FEAST

When the Lord after repeated warnings and signs conveyed to Pharaoh that unless the children of Israel were released from bondage all the first born of Egypt should die, there was provision for the safety of the sons of Israel. Blood sprinkled on the lintel of the door post was a sign to the Death Angel that the first born of Israel were to be spared. This was Passover, a passing over, or the Passover, celebrated from April 2 to April 10 by all Jewish families. It is the Jewish New Year.

On the evening of Friday of this week at sundown in the 22 Jewish homes in the city of Janesville the Israelite descendants dwell, the family meets at supper and eats Matzos, unleavened bread, symbolizing the haste with which the Israelites left Egypt when Pharaoh told them they must go. There was no time to bake bread. During this first night of the feast, the family sits about the board, the story of the bondage in Egypt is told by the head of the family. This is a dialogue between the young member of the family usually being the questioner and the eldest answering.

In connection with eating the Matzos, one of the family eats of bitter herbs, to recall the bitterness of the days of slavery. Each member of the family drinks four glasses of wine. These signify justice, mercy, righteousness, and liberty. Bitter herbs are eaten only on the first evening of Matzos and are eaten daily until sundown on April 10, when the feast of the passover closes.

Janesville has no synagogue, but the Jewish families maintain the customs of the religion in the family circle.

Trill Pointer

When you go to school, do you try and dress as prettily and neatly as you can? You should. Do you try and dress as richly as you can? So you shouldn't. There is no one thing which is quite such bad taste as for a girl to suggest by her dress that she is better off than the other girls in her class. In a great many cases—France for instance—all the girls are required to wear a uniform that covers all their dress that the spirit of democracy may be preserved in the schoolroom.

SQUARE DEAL FOR WAR VETS IS AIM

Red Cross Hopes To Help Disabled Ones In Securing Government Aid, Major Says.

That the Red Cross is the only official agency recognized by the government as the medium by which disabled soldiers, sailors, nurses or marines may petition for compensation and that there are hundreds of disabled men who have not availed themselves of medical, dental, hospital or vocational training because of ignorance of the laws, is the pith of the talk which Major Gents Perry, state supervising inspector of the public health service of the United States, gave last evening before members of the various committees of Janesville branch of the Red Cross chapter of the Red Cross.

Deserve More Treatment.

"Many men were sent out from hospitals," Major Perry said, "with severe disabilities due in a measure to the fact that congress made the ruling Sept. 30, 1919, that all emergency medical men must leave their work at the hospitals, thus leaving these disabled men without proper medical attention. They were sent home and once out of service which was from the government stopped. While the government has meant to do the right thing by these men, they have not received the treatment which they deserved."

Needed More Than Ever.

"More than ever before the Red Cross needs its home service sections. They are to look up these men and give them a square deal. Application for relief must be made and extended in a business-like way, involving many technical details which the average service man does not understand without the assistance of persons acquainted with what we sometimes call the red tape of the law. The Red Cross has a great work to do in assisting men to fill out the questionnaires which must accompany applications for aid. A branch as large as the one which you have here needs a paid secretary and a stenographer."

Three classes of men entitled to compensation either of money, medical or dental aid or vocational training are: Those who entered the service with some disability from which they are still suffering; those who acquired some disability during service; those entering vocational training are entitled to care in case of emergency or an accident as these people automatically are under government care when they begin vocational training.

Miss Elizabeth Timme, state field representative of home service of the Red Cross also attended the meeting. She urged the executive committee to take action in employing a train Red Cross worker to assist ex-service people who are disabled in receiving attention from the government. Dr. W. A. Munn is physician for this district and Dr. Irving Clark, the dentist. Arrangements have also been made at Mercy hospital by the government to carry out this work.

FERNS TO GROW INDOORS

Bird's Nest Fern Suggests Miniature Banana Plant—Ferns Present Attractive Studies in the Harmonies of Lines—Good Drainage Necessary.

(Written for the United States School Garden Army.)

PART II.

The florists have lately revived a fern which in recent years has had little attention. It is the bird's nest fern, a native of the Far East that has long been known in England and America to a few fern lovers. The casual observer would hardly think of it as a fern at all, for it looks more like a miniature banana plant. There is a cluster of thick, broad smooth margined leaves that rise from a central rosette of each leaf projects in a long prominent rib raised in a way that would show a triangle in cross section. This really gives the bird's nest fern the effect of straight lines. From each of these side lines a vast number of straight veins run in through the blade to the margin, these veins showing plainly because of the depression between them. The veins end in the smooth margins which gives another effect of line. The blades are slightly wavy so that the brilliant yellow green color is reflected in varying degrees of light and shade. The plant should be grown in a receptacle that emphasizes the element of line.

Most ferns require good drainage. So the pots or boxes in which they grow should have some broken pieces of pottery above the hole in the bottom. The paper flower pots are excellent for growing the small ferns, and are easily placed in other receptacles as they take up so little room.

Garden knowledge consists chiefly of two things—knowing plants and knowing how to make them grow. One of the best ways to learn about garden plants is to send for the catalogues which you will find advertised and then study the pictures and descriptions.

CITY SHOULD HAVE LANDING FIELD FOR AIRPLANES-MATHESON

"I see no reason why Janesville should not have a landing field for airplanes. It would show the progressiveness of the city along with other communities," said A. E. Matheson, a native of the city.

"It would be one of the finest advertising schemes for the city that I know of."

It was brought out in a discussion as to the advisability of making a place available here for the landing and taking off of air machines, that Janesville, 31 miles from Chicago, 71 miles from Milwaukee and 38 miles from Madison, and in the center of a group of other cities, would very likely be a stopping-off place for airplanes if plans for a greater use of the lighter-than-air-machine go into effect, as many pilots plan them for this summer. There has been considerable talk of several air-express routes being mapped out to start as soon as weather permits, which was brought out in the talk with the speaker who stated that these routes, if they should be left out of the scheme of things.

Milwaukee and Chicago already have their Beloit has no record for purchasing ground for this use. "Mr. Matheson declared he thought it a good idea if the fair grounds here are not found applicable to this use—lightening of the trotting horses in training at the fair grounds, perhaps preventing it would be worth while to consider the rental of ground by the city for a field. In such an event, he advises news be sent broadcast that this city is ready to advance in the up-to-date mode of transportation."

MASS MEETING ON DAYLIGHT SAVING TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

A mass meeting of employers and employees will be held here some night next week to determine the sentiment in regard to daylight saving. Call for the meeting was issued upon by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce in session yesterday afternoon.

It is believed much confusion will arise if some plants move the clocks ahead while others continue on the old time schedule that it is desired to thresh the matter out fully in an open meeting. The matter of school hours is expected to come up for discussion.

Directors of the Chamber endorsed the action of the members' council in voting to raise $500 for the tank company and had a subscription list be circulated.

HOLWAY PRAISES LOCAL BOOSTERS

Adjutant-General Commends Business Men for Work in Getting Tank Outfit.

By BYRON BEVERIDGE.
Madison, March 30.—Gen. Olando Holway is greatly pleased over the response of both the business men and men of the town to the formation of the only tank company in the Wisconsin National Guard. The two big requisitions of the war department for the personnel of the service are, a personnel that is familiar with engines of some kind and the ground on which to drill. It was known at the adjutant general's office that the Samson Tractor company had the men who could fill the required part of the personnel. The other question was, could the necessary ground be obtained?

Praise for Samson.
The Samson Tractor people not only saw the benefit the tank company would be to Janesville, but also that it was an important branch of training for both the nation and state, and at the request of Gen. Holway that company has not only agreed to allow their pay for 15 days while they are in camp for 15 days. It is this backing by the employers, say the officials at the adjutant general's office, that is going to make the Wisconsin guard better than ever before, for the business men of the country have learned that they must do their part to aid in training the young men of the country for the nation's defense, while prior to the war it was often difficult to get employees off for camp even without their civil pay going on.

Not only does Gen. Holway praise the Samson people, but he also has words of commendation for the Janesville Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Welsh. The Chamber of Commerce and the city's business men of the council, having practically agreed to rent quarters and drill grounds, for both the tank company and a troop of cavalry at the fair grounds. As soon as definite arrangements are made for the quarters there, Janesville will be officially announced as the site for the tank company and a troop, and recruiting for the latter organization will be ordered.

TENANTS ON MAIN STREET MUST MOVE

Occupants of several of the houses on the west side of South Main street extending from Third street to the old Dudley house were yesterday instructed to be out by May 1. It is desired to rent the houses to Samson employees living in Beloit and other surrounding cities who have been unable to get homes here, it is understood. The property was purchased several months ago by General Motors People.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its curative record of success.
An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Janesville Daily Gazette.

HIS COWS PRODUCE NEW DAIRY RECORDS

John W. Goldthorpe, R. R. No. 1, Janesville, has just made some good milk and butter records on some of his Holstein cows, under the supervision of Howard C. One 5-year-old cow produced in seven days under official test, 506.3 pounds of milk containing 26 4-5 pounds of butter, averaging 4.24 percent test. This is believed to be the second largest record made in Rock county. Mr. Goldthorpe having made a record of nearly 38 pounds of butter in seven days on another cow two years ago.
He also had two helpers make creditable records this time. One produced 363.4 pounds of milk and 16 3-4 pounds of butter, with an average test of 3.63 percent. The other produced 313.4 pounds of milk and 16 1-2 pounds of butter, testing 4.2 percent for the week. Mr. Goldthorpe has a fine herd of Holsteins.

COUNTY NURSE ON DUTY, THURSDAY

Heralding the arrival of the county nurse, Miss Anna Luetscher, who begins work in the rural schools of Rock county Thursday, a letter has been sent to every rural teacher giving instructions how to prepare the children for the nurse's visit to the school.

Teachers are urged to follow the health instructions given in the manual, insisting on the children keeping their hands, face, nails and teeth clean, and various other directions for good health. Arrangements should be made to have the mothers assembled when the nurse visits the school. Each pupil will be examined and a physical record card kept on file. Parents of children who are found to be defective will be notified and should then consult the family physician, who will diagnose the case and begin treatment if necessary. Teachers will be given definite instructions as to follow up work.

In case of unusual health conditions in the district teachers should get in touch with Miss Luetscher at once. She will be given an office with County Clerk Howard Lee, in the court house, and will be there during busy mornings, the other days of the week being devoted to field work.

UNIONS DISCUSS WALK-OUT ISSUE

Janesville Councils In Session on Wage Demands For April 1.

Meetings and conferences tonight and Wednesday night of Janesville trade unions and their selected representatives will determine whether or not a general walkout will occur here April 1, Thursday.

Briefly there was a widespread air of reticence today on the part of both unions, the employer and the workman. Leaders of either side would not venture opinion either way. Generally, however, it appeared to be apparent that the unions would go through with their demands for the increased scales.

Union men ventured the information that an alleged agreement between local, Madison and Beloit employers for a general refusal to hire Janesville strikers had been defeated when the latter have been secured work at each of these cities and continued on the job despite efforts of local men to effect their release.

The plumbers have been out since March 1. Mason, bricklayers, both affiliated in a single trade council locally, the painters, electricians, plumbers and divers other labor lines are expected to join in the general walkout if it occurs.

The result will be a general shutting down of all building operations in the city. More than 400 carpenters alone will be affected. The aggregate of other men will swell the total to approximately 2,000.

Helen Taft and Politics

Cleveland, O.—"I believe that women should be on every political convention." That is Miss Helen Taft's view of the important part women should play in politics. "But I do not believe," she adds, "that a married woman with children should hold any office. I cannot guess whether any woman ever will be capable of filling every office that men can."

Miss Taft discussed woman's progress in politics while speaking here to aid the campaign to raise an endowment fund for Bryn Mawr college, of which Miss Taft is acting president. She is, incidentally, the youngest college president in the United States.

Discussing the low salaries of educators in general, she said:

"Unless money can be raised at once for increasing the salaries of teachers in women's colleges, the number of professors will be reduced one-half by the end of the present year."

"We can not ask more for tuition because the only way to keep education democratic is to keep the comparative low tuition rates which have always obtained in order not to exclude the most valuable students those who have to earn their own living afterwards."

Price of Ice Cream Cones Goes Down This Summer

Chicago.—The high cost of living has been a great factor in the price of ice cream cones.

A Chicago manufacturer who supplies ice cream cones has announced a reduction in prices for the coming summer that will enable dealers to absorb the war tax and still sell the cones at the old price of five cents, or else insert more ice cream if the six cent price is retained.

FORWARD, JANESVILLE!

To make Janesville a better place in which to live and in which to do business, the Gazette pledges itself to work for and support these things:

House survey to discourage exorbitant rentals; encouragement of building more houses; appraisal of property values so that rent profits may be made to pay the increased amount of taxes.

Open roads in the country 255 days of the year; better roads generally; and support of the road building plans; better streets and more paved streets in the city.

A market pavilion in the city which may also be used for many other purposes by farmers and livestock producers.

A community building to be used for auditorium, sport events, meetings, rest rooms, and also as a fitting memorial for soldiers.

Open the churches seven days a week and stop economic waste in room and time. Make business meetings places for the young, and provide gymnasium facilities.

Build a real home for the girls who come here to work.

Open the fair grounds this year as a recreation park with tennis courts and other play apparatus. Establish parks and playgrounds.

Better the street car service as population increases.

On this day in 1867 the United States concluded the purchase of Alaska. We paid $7,200,000 to Russia for the territory.

NOWHERE TO PLAY; WHAT IS OUR RESPONSIBILITY?

Has the municipality any responsibility to the children? Every one knows a city has a government in order to have a police force to pick up drunks and keep order in front of theaters, and a fire department to protect property, and a council and a few other officers to collect taxes and pave streets and do some other things. But how far does that responsibility go to the comfort of the men and women of the city? Certainly they are to be looked after a little. And the children, the red blooded boys and girls who live in the houses on small lots and have no playground except the streets of the city? What are they to do? Sit on the steps and mope or read Rollo's Trip on the Erie Canal and other soporific literature? They cannot play ball because Tom's ball went through a neighbor's window and Tom ran away. Marbles are permitted and skipping the rope may be indulged in, if not to excess and not too boisterously. Children are barred from apartment houses. These institutions are for old maids, bachelors and very young or very old couples.

All of which shows that the boys and girls of Janesville are going to have a hard time of it unless they sneak away when they want to play and then run the risk of arrest for trespass if they play ball on a private field. Cities far larger than Janesville have solved the boy problem. They have public playgrounds for the boys and girls. They have lots set apart for the boys to play ball. It is quite probable that the folks will go on having children even as long as Janesville is a city. And we will be responsible for the children. We are the city. The children will be the city some day. It's time to see that the boys and girls are accorded a little attention and the demand of youth and childhood for real play be given an outlet. We have about settled the question of women's rights; let's tackle children's rights next.

WHO WILL TEACH THE CHILDREN?

Everywhere one finds the same conditions in reference to the schools—teacher shortage. Counties and cities, some of them as large and important as St. Louis, have closed rooms or schools because no teachers can be found. In other sections a partial solution of school and teaching problems has come from the concentration of schools in townships. Children are carried to the school house in vehicles provided by the patrons. The expense is included in the budget. This is not always possible, but we are gradually coming to it. Ohio has been a pioneer in these central schools and finds that, better teaching forces, more apparatus, a more pronounced school spirit and many other collateral benefits are possible under the central school system.

We are rather apt to be careless about the rural schools. It is a matter of deep regret that this is so. By far the majority of boys and girls entering school get no farther than the grades. A surprising percentage never go beyond the rural school. Therefore they are entitled to the best and the most intensive effort should be put forth to give them thorough ground work in the time they have for school. It is up to the teacher. Young and inexperienced girls, themselves untrained, and knowing little beyond the narrow horizon of the text book, are the rule and not the exception in the schools over the country. They do their best to win and have succeeded many times in spite of their lack of experience. Here is a larger and more important question than peace treaties or who is to be the next president. Illiteracy is gaining rather than lessening. We pay about as much for moving picture shows as we do for education. It is time to wake up, pay the highest salary possible to the teacher, and get the best teacher possible the salary will secure.

INVESTIGATING MR. FORD.

Governor Sleeper wants Henry Ford brought to the bar of justice and made to answer for the money he spent in his campaign for the senate against Truman H. Newberry. Roger Andrews, of Menominee, publisher of the Herald-Leader of that city, in a signed statement alleges that Ford spent an enormous sum in securing his nomination and afterward in his campaign. Two wrongs do not make a right. Because Henry Ford started the money rolling is not a good reason for Mr. Newberry's friends following suit. For it was a crime. But Mr. Ford should have his day in court. He is contesting Mr. Newberry's seat. The guns should be turned on Mr. Ford and let us see if the allegations are correct. If the sanctimonious attitude of Mr. Ford is real or a camouflage, it is worth finding out before he has any chance to be seated in the senate.

MR. LA FOLLETTE'S WAR RECORD.

An endorsement of Mr. La Follette's hand-picked delegates is an endorsement of the war record of the senator. That was anything other than to inspire pride. In the whole time from the declaration of America's entry to the close and up to now, Mr. La Follette has never performed a single act to show he was a citizen of America, or a friend of his own people. One may have some feeling of sympathy for the position of a man born in Germany, who has made his home here with a mental reservation that he was still of the Fatherland, and who failed to be enthusiastic over America's

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

WHAT HOMES INTENDED FOR.

When the young folks gather round in the good old-fashioned way, Singin' all the latest songs gathered from the newest play, Or they start the phonograph an' shove the chairs back to the wall An' hold a little party dance, I'm happiest of all. Then I sorter settle back, plumb contented watchin' her, An' I tell myself most proudly, that's what home's intended fer.

When the laughter's gaily ringin' an' the room is filled with song, I like to sit an' watch 'em, all that glad an' merry throng. For the ragtime they are playin' on the old piano there, Beats any high-toned music where the bright lights shine an' glare, An' the racket they are makin' seems to make my pulses stir.

So I whisper in my gladness, that's what home's intended fer. Then I smile an' say to mother, let 'em move the chairs about, Let 'em frolic in the parlor, let 'em shove the tables out, Jus' so long as they are near us, jus' so long as they will stay. By the fireplace we are keepin', harm will never come their way, An' you'll never hear me grumble at the bills that may occur.

For the damage they are doin'—that's what home's intended fer.

—Copyright 1920 by Edgar A. Guest.

In the war. But for a man who was raised here and comes from a parentage that could have no bond of birth with Germany, there is neither respect nor sympathy.

Mr. Thompson, leader of the La Follette assorted delegation, says that "no senator commands the respect in the senate that La Follette does." All we have to answer is, if that statement is true, the United States senate is in a mighty bad way. If there is a single act of the senator's aiding or assisting his own country, either by word or deed, during the war, helpful in a time of crisis, making one speech to light the fires of love and honor and respect for his native land, we have failed to find it. Shall he be rewarded then by making him the head of a delegation pledged to abide by his decision?

Germany does not seem to care whether she abides by the terms of the treaty or not. She does not propose to pay the indemnities and there is reason to believe that France and Great Britain will ultimately be obliged to occupy the whole territory. The United States having no indemnities to enforce and no territory to grab, is out of it.

James M. Beck, constitutional lawyer, has written an opinion that Secretary Lansing was entirely within his constitutional rights in calling a meeting of the cabinet. As Mr. Wilson has not called one since Mr. Lansing was so incontinently fired, Mr. Beck might send the document to Secretary Colby.

Wonder how the Milwaukee Sentinel, which so consistently knocks prohibition, could have let the headline, "Small Wage Earners are Saving Millions, Using Banks Instead of Boozers," creep into the paper? Can't something be done to stop it? This seems to be another violent attack on personal liberty.

Their Opinions

Sheboygan has been claiming a population of more than 35,000, but the official census figures give it a population of only 30,956. Of course this will be disappointing to the Sheboygan boosters, but the latter should be satisfied with a credited increase of 4,557, representing a gain of 17.3 percent in ten years.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

As Gen. Wood is known from one end of the country to the other, why spend all this money for "publicity"? The general is a fine man who needs to be saved from some of his political fool friends.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

After buying candy and fruit done up in paper wrappers to promote cleanliness, many people show their intelligent appreciation of the same by throwing the wrappers into the streets.—Marquette Eagle-Star.

The president of the London Board of Trade, Sir Auckland Geddes, says the stocks of gold in this country are responsible for the high cost of living. This is something new, as it was supposed generally that the enormous credit inflation as to paper money and bank credits was the chief factor. Sir Geddes at least has created a sensation.—Racine Journal-News.

Up to the present the vets have won many minor decisions in the courts and invariably lost out when it came to an important one. Wet suits are brought in wet regions and the lower courts tend to take their complexion from their surroundings. The press in the wet spots is apt to become rather enthusiastic about these minor and meaningless decisions and give the impression that they really mean something. But no one should consider second hand bar fixtures a good investment on the strength of all this enthusiasm.—Wausau Record-Herald.

Is Flag on Sea to Stay

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director
Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

New York, March 30.—Is our war-born merchant fleet a mushroom growth that will perish with the hot atmosphere of exuberant necessity that created it, or is the United States to take a permanent place among the great shipping nations of the world? The question is being asked by the American people, and it is a question of the greatest importance to the nation.

This important question is being energetically put to the American people by the National Marine League, which plans to hold a great exposition in Grand Central Palace during the week beginning April 2, for the purpose of arousing popular interest in our merchant shipping. The navy, the department of commerce, and the shipping board will all take part. There will be a great display of marine paraphernalia in a brilliant setting of color and music, and a stage presentation of the American conscious of the fact that he belongs to a great maritime nation. As the league states its own purpose, it is to awaken in the American people a voting and an investing interest in the American merchant marine.

Two Sound Assumptions.
The league sets forth two major assumptions, both of which seem sound. The first is that we have a right to have a merchant marine, and the people are really interested in one and want it. The second is that we now need a merchant marine more than ever before.

Undoubtedly the big problem is to arouse the sea-going spirit, to make the nation ship-conscious. As it speaks, in the days of the Civil war, when Yankee clipper ships sailed every sea, we were a ship-conscious people. We took pride in our ships, and our ships would crowd on more canvas, take bigger chances, and win bigger rewards than any ships in the world. In the main, and all over the edge of it, the American boy no more thought of going to sea for a career than he thought of going to the moon.

Had to Have Marine.
The war, the shipping board and the Emergency Fleet corporation did not create a merchant marine because it had to be done. We have a merchant marine now, which is owned and operated by the United States government. The life of this emergency fleet is limited. The shipping board asks that it be given at least two years more of life, so that the ships belonging to the American people can be sold to private capital without too heavy a loss.

When the Emergency Fleet corporation has died or been killed, then what? This is the question which the Marine league is asking. Unless American capital invests in ships, unless American boys will stick on ships, unless American voters will take an interest in and gain a knowledge of shipping, then necessary legislation will be passed by congress, nothing can stop our merchant marine from declining again and ultimately disappearing.

Must Continue Corporation.
Of course, one solution of the problem would be to keep the Emergency Fleet corporation in existence, and to continue our merchant marine as a national enterprise nationally owned. No one seems to deny that the Emergency Fleet corporation has done well. It has attracted the interest of the public to shipping matters when private capital has failed to do so. The solution of the problem does not seem even to be considered in high places. Just at present a wave of opposition to government ownership of ships is sweeping over the country. A great propaganda has been set on foot for the return of everything to private hands. This is a thing that never in private hands. They were created by the nation with the people's money. None the less, they too seem certain to go into private hands, and at a good deal less than cost.

Correct Thing to Do.
The general sentiment seems to be that this is the correct thing to do. True, some can be found who do not think it is the correct thing to do, but appears to be the thing that is going to happen. In congress there appears to be no strong sentiment for continuing public ownership of the merchant shipping.

It should be explained that the shipping board was created as a sort of supervisory body to regulate marine shipping much as the interstate commerce commission regulates the railroads. The shipping board was given powers to build and operate ships in case an emergency made it necessary. The war was such an emergency. The Emergency Fleet corporation was therefore created, as a child of the shipping board, to build and operate a fleet of ships. Its charter provided that it should terminate its activities five years after peace, unless congress decided otherwise. As far as can be gathered congress seems inclined to terminate its activities sooner.

League Awakens Interest.
If this must happen, then the Merchant Marine league, in starting a campaign to awaken interest in a merchant marine, must be doing the right thing. The more interest is awakened, the more chance that our fleet will continue to function. And strong arguments are made why it should continue to function.

In the first place many of our old export markets have been destroyed or rendered inaccessible to us, and we must develop new ones. The advantages of having our own shipping where we can control the situation in the second place, it is argued, Europe is soon going to begin dumping upon us enormous quantities of goods which we cannot carry to pay what she owes us and is unable to pay in money. We must have shipping facilities with which to move the goods again to sell them in South America, Africa, anywhere. Unless we can do this our markets will be glutted, it is argued, and our export trade will be closed. Obviously, to depend upon these same European manufacturing nations for the ships with which to carry their goods to our markets, is to put ourselves in a position where we are at the mercy of the European nations. The shipping board is not to be trusted. So argues the Marine league.

League Not Philanthropic.
The Marine league does not appear to be a philanthropic institution. A large part of its membership seems to consist of manufacturers and others who have got goods to sell, and are intensely interested in having American ships to carry them to foreign markets. Part of its membership consists of owners of ships who would presumably like to own more ships. The Marine league strongly believes, as might be expected, that the government should own and operate our merchant marine. It says that the well known "individual initiative" is especially necessary in shipping business, and that the equally well known "bureaucratic control" would kill our merchant marine dead. It does not cite the experience of the shipping board in connection with this argument.

There are a number of things which the league wants in the way of legislation. It wants every sailor in the merchant marine bound by an oath to serve his country, and incidentally his employer, so that he cannot quit whenever he gets ready. It wants a merchant mariners' insurance act to take some of the risk out of shipping for the ship owner. It wants national training schools established all over the country to train ship labor. It objects to some features of the La Follette act, notably the provision which makes it necessary for a man to go to sea three years before he can obtain a sea-man's papers. It thinks nine months is long enough. It also wants that part of the La Follette act repealed which provides that a seaman can draw 5 percent on reaching a port. This they say, is necessary to keep the sailors from going ashore and getting drunk. It wants seamen in the merchant marine to be compensated on a uniform basis, so as to stimulate pride in their calling and to make them easy to recognize.

PERSONETTE

CHARLES SIRINGO, author, detective, cowboy, Indian fighter and adventurer, is a figure in western history who never became as well known as he was. He was born on the Gulf Coast of Texas, and became a cow puncher on the Texas range in the eighties. He was a cowboy, a detective, a writer, and a man of many talents. He has written two books, one telling of his experiences as a cowboy and the other the story of his life as a detective. These are not only chock full of thrilling adventure, but they are a singularly true revelation of the character of the man. Other men who write their reminiscences boast and bluff, but Siringo sticks to the truth and tells it in the same homely, forcible, sometimes ungrammatical English which such a man speaks. He tells you just how a man feels and what he thinks when he carries his life in his hands, makes his own laws, and enforces them with a six-shooter. He has been a cowboy for many years ago and are doubtless long out of print. He is now known only to some curious students of southwestern history.

France's View of Turkish Question Same as Wilson's

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
London, March 30.—It was said at the French office today that the French point of view regarding Turkey and Armenia is in agreement with that of President Wilson as to the desirability of the largest possible Armenian state and the expulsion of the Turks from Constantinople. The question is raised as to whether the ends can be achieved without the force necessary to result among the Mussulmans.

A noted writer in Statepost writes: "The commonest sign of fatigue is found in feeling of weariness." There are times when we are almost led into believing that this is true. Equivocal and ambiguous as the statement may seem at the first reading, it becomes clearer when read over four or five times. In fact, we don't know when the proposition has been stated with more clarity, after one masters the language in which it is couched.

Have you ever builded read things and said to yourself: "How often I have thought that very thing. Why did I not put it down in imperishable words?"

It is so with this. Doubtless in your humble way you have often thought that your weariness was a mark of fatigue. At those times you thought a living truth, but did you write and tell some magazine of your weariness discovery? No. You contented yourself to come along, perhaps years after, and do it.

The moral is that when you think a great thought, put it down in imperishable words. If you do not put it somewhere and forget it, posterity may find it.

Now, many times in our career we have feelings of weariness. Some of our friends have been misguided enough to attribute it to laziness—an awful word, particularly when it is used by a friend. But when we were weary, it was not laziness that ailed us. It was fatigue.

And we never knew the truth until we read the magazine article mentioned. We have been slandered for years by a wrong idea.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married several years and have one little child who is not old enough to go to school. I have always loved my husband and it was a case of love at first sight. I went with him about one year before we were married. I love him with all my heart and soul and always will no matter what happens. My love is with him forever. He has always had a good job and made a good salary. He has given me everything I wanted and in this way has spoiled me. Now this high cost of living has got him. He still makes a good salary, but is going into business of his own in another town where he expects to make our home.

He has thrown slurs at me for the past two months in a joking way, but I know he really means them. He has said to me that I am a nuisance and that if he did not have anybody but himself to keep the house, he would throw thousands in a few years. When he says that I am a nuisance, I know there is not another woman in the world who would be this way. He just wants to be alone.

He has often asked me why I did not go to work. I have not had very much experience in working and I feel that my place is at home with my child. I don't want to leave him with anybody else to take care of. I do all the sewing for the baby and myself.

I won't say my husband is tired of me or doesn't love me any more, but he seems to fairly hate me. I am very sensitive and independent. When he hurts my feelings and I get into a quarrel, he just laughs as though it does him good.

I am thinking of staying in my home town when he goes to work, but his business and get myself a position. I can live on as I am living. I can't think of leaving him or a divorce because I love him too much.

There is a middle-aged man, a friend of his, who is willing to help me. It seems to think so much of me. Of course he is much older than I. I don't want to get mixed up with anybody as my husband would think the man was the cause. My husband is affectionate and jolly, and as long as I do what he desires most he is in good humor. I try to please him, but can't always. What shall I do?

A MILLION THANKS. Remain with your husband. The strain of a new underling is probably making him nervous and he says things which he would not think of in normal circumstances. For the sake of your child, if for no other reason you should remain with your husband, real some estrangement arise from separation.

It is ridiculous that you should go to work. Your place is in the home, caring for your child and husband. When your husband suggests a position he is unreasonable and a shirking his duty to you and your child.

Be patient for a few months. I am sure that when you are settled in your new home conditions will change and your husband will be more agreeable. To make his return successful he needs your cooperation and love.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My boy friend turned me down for another girl and he never asks me for dates any more. At a party we were put together and I didn't know whether he wanted to go with me or not. Was it right to go with him and act as usual?

Yes, it was all right to go and act as usual. The young man could have found some excuse for not going if he had preferred to do otherwise.

DAD THE DOGGER

Unfortunately it is impossible to publish some letters in their entirety, but these extracts from a letter written to me by an anxious boy of 15 should interest quite every-where.

...but dad was distant and never told me anything. Dad never clucked with me. I seldom took me anywhere but to church. I attended a technical school, all boys in the classes. We were ever taught us about these things—what information we did get we got from a few fellows who had experience or claimed to have it. I recently attended a party, for the first time in a year or more, but the girls present smoked and drank wine, the very best class of girls in town. I have found the moving pictures that are supposed to teach the evils of the black plague merely suggestive in the ordinary.

Think it over, dad. Are you a dogger? Do you attempt to conceal your cowardliness or indifference by assuming that YOUR boy is unlike other boys?

Remember what the investigations of the United States Public Health Service surgeons showed, that the average age at which boys receive their proper instruction in sex hygiene is 15 years, BUT the average age at which boys pick up their first improper sex information is nine years.

Dad, don't be six years late. The boy is worth more than that. If you do not feel competent to teach the boy the truths of life, then obtain the assistance of your physician. Don't let the matter slide. The sliding is all downhill.

There are very helpful books which a father, or a mother, may read, suggesting how to instruct children. One of the first I have seen yet is "The Parents' Guide," by O. S. Davis and Dr. E. P. A. Drake, published by J. L. Norton & Co., Atlantic City, and Naperville, Ill.

A real live dad will cheer his boys at every opportunity. It is as good for dad as it is for the boys. I feel sure that if every father and mother could read the letters I receive from boys and girls a great change in our educational system would be instituted without further delay. The young people have certainly not received a square deal at school. If we were to be marked by an unbiased teacher on our parental efficiency most of us would never receive a C.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Mischiefous Little Girls Stick. Last night and the night before I took his temperature at bedtime and both nights it was 99 degrees. Is that a sign of anything wrong? What would you advise? (Mrs. C. E. C.)

ANSWER—A live boy should have a temperature of approximately 99 about bedtime. Your question illustrates a clinical thermometer or a reading of one in the house. I would advise that you present the thermometer with your best wishes to some poor rich family that can afford it.

Kindly give your opinion of tablets of triple bromides. What are they usually prescribed for, and are they harmful if taken continuously? (Mrs. O. M. D.)

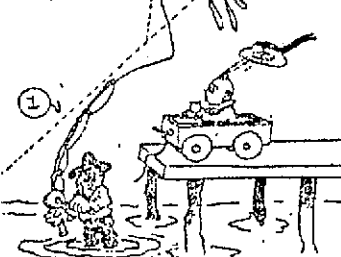

ANSWER—The bromides of sodium, potassium and ammonium are compressed in tablet form. Heaven only knows why the three are used together—no doctor does. I have seen Bromides club the nervous system into temporary quiescence. Such drugs are exceedingly harmful if taken for a long time.

Water Does Not Hurt Little Girls. I am a little girl twelve years old, and drink a prodigious amount of water. Do you think so much water will injure my health in any way? (Miss C.)

The DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

SHE MEETS HER FIANCÉ'S FRIENDS.

May 16—Just having the greatest talk with Aunt Cecilia ever since Jack left me at the door. We went to see some old friends of his this evening, very old friends, as he impressed on me two or three times. Ted Sloan and his wife, both artists. What do you know about that? I live all comfy and happy in a sure apartment just like Dorry, if you please, and Mrs. Ted can sit about from studio to studio ad lib. Her husband doesn't think it deplorable—nor does Jack—for he! Aren't nials the weird animals?

We had the best time ever at their place, I must say, and I felt so at home with both of them. They are clever, unaffected young people, the sort that I love to meet and want to have as friends, rather than as deadly, dull types that mother and Jack and Jack's people will be likely to thrust upon me. Nessa, that is Mrs. Sloan's name, made me feel as if I had known her all my life. She smoked ever so many cigarettes, by the way, and Jack even offered her his! The hypocrite—after all he has said about the "filthy custom" of smoking for women. How it makes them look fast and spectacular, etc., etc., and how he is delighted with me for not ever having cultivated the habit. Little he knows, poor dear. Why, if the truth be told, I can make the smoke come out of my ears, not to mention my nose, and the fact that I can blow honest to goodness rings. He not only pressed his cigarettes on Nessa Sloan, he lit one for her, and then assured her many times that "she looked too cute and devilish for words!" I guess that's being true to one's principles for you, what? Of course I, prospective bride-like and acquiescent, smiled and also assured Mrs. Sloan that she looked sweet in general. She may be much wiser than I give her credit for. Anyhow, she went through the same sort of sabotage that I feel sure I am about to go through, when once safely tied to Jack.

Mrs. Sloan, by the way, has bobbed hair, wore a vivid flame and peacock blue silk smock, and gray suede sandals. Everything that Jack most abhors—and yet he was so attentive to her. Even found one or two very good friends in the past. Mr. Sloan did not seem to worry at all. I think that they are identical could both so free, so good-looking, and clever.

I wish the world could have seen the approving gleam in Jack's proprietary eye as I turned down a cigarette. It was too funny, really, after all his compliments to his hostess. I never batted an eyelid as I smilingly refused, and said that I simply wouldn't know how to use them, and was sure that they would make me very ill. That was not a lie—for the horrid things were performed.

Several good-looking young artists came in later, and we danced. One of them evidently did not get on to slide.

To take the odor from a knife after paring or slicing onions, wash the knife with cold water and the odor will be gone instantly.

To Clean Hair Brushes—The best way in which to clean hair brushes is with spirit ammonia, as its effect is immediate. No rubbing is required and cold water can be used just as successfully as warm. Turn a tablespoon of ammonia to a quart of water; dip the hair part of the brush without wetting the ivory and in a moment the grease is removed. Rinse in cold water, shake well and dry in the air but not in the sun.

the fact that Jack was my fiancé, and maybe he didn't flirt. Well, I was in a receptive mood, and I let him. We danced several dances together, and he is some dancer, let me tell you. He asked me if I lived down in that part of town, and seemed awfully keen on my asking him to call. I just did enjoy him and his banter so much that I never mentioned Jack or the Great Pact to him at all. What is the use of always spoiling a good time by announcing the fact one is possessed? Personally I do not see the need of it at all. Jack ages, but then that's what one might expect from him.

BIG MEN PLEAD FOR QUICK PEACE

Ask Wilson to Break from His Position and Let the Treaty Be Ratified.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1920 by Janesville Daily Gazette)

Washington, D. C., March 30.—Samuel Colcord, a modest old gentleman with kindly eyes and benign countenance, who represents no organization, no political faction or party, no personal ambition or desire for prominence, has presented to President Wilson through Secretary Tumulty, a plan for the ending of the deadlock on the treaty. Instead of an appeal from the president to the people in an election, Mr. Colcord brings an appeal from the people to the president. He urges, briefly, that there be adopted the peace treaty with all the points on which there is agreement between the democratic and republican senators and that the points on which points be left to the campaign or a referendum. His idea is that much of the good of the league of nations and treaty of peace is to be derived by the United States in partnership with the rest of the world while the points like article ten on which the treaty is divided are not. Obstacles have arisen can be determined later on.

"They may take their referendum to the people," Mr. Colcord says, "but not while the world waits in suspense and agony for the pledges of aid we are willing to give."

Signers galore, from all political parties and all walks of life, give the petition presented at the White House a non-partisan and interested appearance. Neither the league to enforce peace nor the other organizations which have worked so long for treaty ratification are involved in the plan. It is solely the work of one man—Samuel Colcord, who has used up much of his own income and principal to forward an idea that he thinks will benefit this country and the world.

Mr. Colcord has no office, no staff, no publicity organization—nothing at all. He is just an average citizen who feels so deeply about the delay in entering the league of nations and putting the treaty of peace into effective operation that he has devoted all his time for many weeks and is prepared to continue his efforts indefinitely in order to help along a situation in which he thinks only disinterested men can help.

On the petition appear the names of President Lowell of Harvard, and Cardinal Gibbons. There are also names of the late President Woodrow Wilson, former attorney general in the Taft cabinet, Augustus Thomas, playwright, Hamilton Holt, editor of the Independent, who have been particularly friendly to President Wilson's point of view, and also names of nations as well as Major George Haven Putnam, Jacob H. Schiff, Edmund Dwight and others who have been prominent in public life. It is said that many more names have been added since the memorial.

Accompanying Mr. Colcord to the White House were Hamilton Holt and Professor Woodbridge of Boston. Of course anybody who has dared to mention the word "compromise" at any time since the treaty was first presented has had to tread softly and speak in whispers for the president has brooked no such suggestions. Indeed, it has been said that he would not receive certain democratic senators, hitherto on the friendliest terms with him, because he feared that they would want to talk compromise.

President Did Not See Them

Mr. Wilson didn't see Mr. Colcord or his committee. But the memorial presented to him is of course to be before the president by his private secretary. Every day it is planned to add more names so that eventually thousands of persons whose names command public respect will be enlisted in the movement.

Mr. Colcord admits he is a republican but claims he is no partisan. He is the kind of a man who believes much can be accomplished in the treaty situation if the individual interested turned their thoughts from personal hatreds to broad principles of human compassion. He plans to carry his appeal to the nation by means of a nationwide tour. Several senators who favor the compromise plan and it is probable that there will be speeches on it this week.

What Will He Say?

The president has not seen fit to reply to the senate resolution returning the treaty to him. Sometimes he welcomes occasions to speak indirectly and by implication. The visit of Mr. Colcord and his committee may furnish that opportunity. Some pronouncement from the White House has been expected for several days but it has been deferred to see what congress would do about the joint resolution proposing a declaration of peace. It is still a game—each side watching the other and each side confident that the public supports such tactics. Mr. Colcord's efforts are the beginning of what may yet prove a nationwide movement to tell both sides in the treaty fight that the country still wants action, not delay, and a definition of American foreign policy.

CHINESE EXECUTE IN COOL FASHION AS TOOL OF BOLSHEVIKI

(By Associated Press.)

Amsterdam.—The correspondent of the Handelsblad who recently returned from a trip in Soviet Russia gives the following account of his investigations of the activities of the Chinese, employed there by the bolsheviks as executioners.

"Such horrible stories were being told in Europe about these Chinese that I thought it worth my while to learn more about them. As a joke, I asked every one who asked my opinion of the bolsheviks to show me some 'real man-killing Chinese,' but I was always told that they couldn't produce any just now because they had all gone to the Denikine front."

"I was told the Chinese, if commanded by their own officers were excellent soldiers, but they ran like hares if their officers were killed. Executions are now rare in Moscow, but, in August, when thousands of 'counter-revolutionaries' were slaughtered, it was carried out by the Chinese because the authorities feared the Russian soldiers would refuse to do the work."

"The Chinese go this work differently—like they do all other work they are ordered to perform. They are blind, conscienceless tools in the hands of the men who feed them and pay them and who raised them from the position of coolie in which they came to Russia to the rank of soldier, of the guards."

"If the 'Bolsjak' his name for bolshevik, orders something, the Chinese does it, and he does it in his typically practical way. He first makes the victim dig his own grave and then shoots him with his revolver. He is not cruel about it, just practical."

"When Bolsjak says kill, then he kills with an unperturbed face. And when Bolsjak says 'you may stop now,' with the same cool face he lets his victim go."

The correspondent after some weeks in Russia left when he was refused permission to make investigations freely as he pleased.

Rockefeller Couldn't Afford to Buy Wisconsin Gas & Electric 7 Per Cents, But for the Small Investor They Are a Mighty Good Investment bought $10,000 of Wisconsin Gas & Electric Company's 7 per cent preferred stock, or $10,000 of our 5-year, 7 per cent gold notes, his gross income from the $10,000 would be $700 a year. But after he paid a 76 per cent U. S. income tax (Otto Kahn, the New York banker, says John D. pays that rate), his NET income from the $10,000 would be only $168 a year.

This explains why rich people generally have quit buying taxable securities. It explains why the big business corporations have lately been obliged either to pay extra high rates for new capital when they got it from rich investors, or have had to go to the small investors to get new capital at a fair rate.

Most of us who pay U. S. income taxes pay only 4 per cent on most of our income and perhaps 8 per cent on a small part of it. One of us, buying $10,000 of Wisconsin Gas & Electric 7 per cents, would draw the $700 a Noble of Same Shop Goes to Moline Team of Three-Eyes—Both Leave Shortly.

BY FRANK SINCLAIR
Janesville is sending two men to organized baseball this season.

Though these chaps are not home products, the city can have the pride, nevertheless, of harboring them during the winter months in their off-time and perhaps will do so again next winter. Both are employed in the machine shop of the Janesville Machine Company for the past five months.

Worked in Shops
Announcement was made today by William Denney that he has landed a berth with the Cincinnati nationals last year's pennant winners after much dickering to take effect the first of next week when he will join the Reds at their training camp at Miami, Florida. He will play the infield, until last year, Bill was with the Nebraska state league.

The other player is Ralph Noble of Gratiot, Wis., who has signed with the Moline nine of the Three Eyes league. He will also work in the infield. He leaves the Bower city for the diamond in the next two weeks.

THE EARLY BIRD GETS THE GERMS

(Kiss your girl in the evening or afternoon. Disease germs lurk in morning kisses because the sun and fresh air have not had a chance to sterilize red lips, says Dr. Lawson Brown.)

When the toll and molt are done, And the evening sun is grey, And the conscientious sun Ends another union day, Then the loving men and misses Can indulge in yards of kisses (But it's not on osculation in the morning!)

Amarvills may have slept, Neat the purest silk and lace, Still she is not anti-sept— Is enough for an embrace. Oxydion, if you are wary of germs, Safe and sane and sanitary, You must lay off osculation in the morning!

Not a wicked cigarette, We are told in certain terms, Nor the frenchiest cosmo— It kills early in the morn'g. Though at breakfast you would greet her, Phone your kiss and later meet her, But lay off osculation in the morning!

ONE OUT OF FORTY-THREE
Out of a straw-vote of 520, 141 ex-soldiers voted in favor of the prohibition of tobacco. So far, we have seen no expert analysis of this remarkable decision of this group, but a number of explanations might be offered.

In the first place, there are a lot of men who lived happily on the Army ration of bull or the canteen cigarettes who would rather have the temptation removed than pay real money for the stuff now.

In the second place, a lot of men are born "antis."

In the third place—we give up.

AN EXPRESSION OF THANKS

Probably the most cheering piece of news of the week is the appointment of a Director of War Reliefs, U. S. A. by Secretary Baker.

When the telegram reached the president of the Men's League for Equal Rights a special meeting was called and resolutions of thanks were adopted and sent to the secretary.

For a long time some sort of regulation has been demanded for women's relations and it seems especially fitting that the initiative should come from the War Department.

While the bachelors look upon the appointment with sympathy and understanding, it is from the married men that the heartfelt gratitude goes forth to Secretary Baker.

It is hoped that the office will begin to function before the June wedding takes place, and the women's relations have moved in.

A SUGGESTION

While a number of our foreign friends and our own statesmen are trying to interpret what Washington meant when he said "Beware of entangling alliances," it might be opportune to suggest that what he really meant was to beware of entangling alliances.

MONROE HIGH PLAYS LEGIONS TOMORROW

(By Gazette Correspondent.)
Monroe, March 30.—The high school basketball team will meet the Legion team tomorrow night at the Legion arena for a city championship. The contest has been looked forward to for several months by local basketball fans. The high school team gained a one-point victory over the Legion team early in the winter and stand a good chance to win this time, as they have participated in state tournaments and are in good trim.

Mitchell Wins Shade Over Willie Jackson

Bout Is So Close, Some Writers Call It Draw—$500 at Ringside.

Milwaukee, March 30.—Richie Mitchell, in a clash of 10 rounds of thrills, shaded Willie Jackson of New York at the Auditorium here last night before a crowd of 3,500 men with a goodly sprinkling of women.

Some of the sporting writers ruled the bout a draw. This perhaps was due in large part to the cautiousness of the prize of the Cream city in holding off slightly throughout the bout.

There was nothing slow about the match. Both men went at it as if they were the deadliest of enemies—and they were for the fight. Mitchell's left hand was fairly well balanced by the weight of Jackson's mighty right. Rapid exchanges of pummeling in every bout kept the vast crowd on its feet.

Jackson Best in Openers.

Jackson had the shade in the early rounds of the battle when Mitchell held off and let him do the leading but Richie caught up and passed his opponent in the closing stages. The battle was wicked at close quarters making it difficult to see just what was going on. The fourth round was Mitchell's worst. In that one he was staggered and driven dizzy but managed to pull himself together to steady himself for a comeback in the sixth and rest of the rounds in such manner that he earned the decision by inches.

St. Paul Won on Saturday, not U. S.

Through error yesterday's sport page gave credit for a victory to the United Brethren over the St. Paul's team in the church league played at the "Y" Saturday night. This game should have read: St. Paul's, 24; United Brethren, 5.

The team standings are corrected to read as follows:

ARE MAGEE'S CHARGES NOTHING BUT WIND?

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
New York, March 30.—President Heydler of the National League today received a letter from the attorney for Lee Magee, who has been credited with saying that he will make sensational revelations about other ball players. The letter, dated last Friday, mentioned no other player, according to Heydler.

"There is nothing in the letter to bear out the sensational statements which preceded it from the west," he said. "It may be that charges involving players are being forwarded under a later date."

ALL I-C GAMES MUST BE PLAYED THIS WEEK

All postponed games of the Industrial-Commercial bowling league must be played off this week, according to an announcement made by the City Bowling association today. The date for closing of the schedule was originally set as April 8, and this must be held according to A. B. C. rules. Those games which are not played by next Tuesday night will be considered cancelled.

Ex-Mrs. Dempsey Says Jack Has 'Weak Back'

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

The other day Mrs. Maxine Dempsey, former wife of Jack, heavyweight king, got peeved again. It's an accepted fact that a woman peevish is a woman broken loose. The way peevish women have wrecked kingdoms and pulled kings off their thrones is something scandalous. So when Mrs. Dempsey got riled everybody listened. And one of the things she said was: "My advice to Georges Carpentier is to keep Jack away until the fourth round and then get Jack in the fourth. His back weakens about that round. Then his seconds give him dope. The dope makes him bad."

Now, the point is: Did Mrs. Dempsey tip off the pugilistic world to the one weakness of the man called the greatest fighting machine of the day—not of all time?

REPORT SAYS YANKS THREATEN STRIKE

Jacksonville, Fla., March 30.—

Some of the members of the New York American League club were reported to have threatened a strike in a warm discussion today with Col. Ruppert and Huston, the owners, shortly before the team met on the field and trounced the Cincinnati Reds, 8 to 7. Pratt, Shawkey and Peckinpaugh, acting as a committee for the players, demanded a new salary of $14,000 a third place money, regarding the division of which there has been much discussion. The players claimed they had about $70 apiece coming and they wanted a decision right off the bat.

Campfire Girls Observe Seventh Anniversary; Local Order Growing

SOQUASSIPPI CAMPFIRE GIRLS, FIRST LOCAL BRANCH.

Campfire Girls all over the United States this week celebrated their seventh anniversary. Campfire girls in this city celebrated by entertaining their mothers at a banquet, prepared entirely by the girls. Keokuk camp gave its banquet at the First Lutheran church. Forty mothers and club members attended. Five Boy Scouts serving the meal. Soquassippi camp held its banquet at Janesville Center, and later attended the theater. Wendat camp met at the home of a member.

First One Here in 1919
While the national organization was formed in 1912 by Mrs. Clara Y. Quirk, New York City, no local association was organized in this city until 1919 when the Keokuk camp was founded. It was to be reorganized in the fall of 1919 as the Soquassippi camp. Soquassippi means river of mystery.

Miss Nellie Mullins, high school teacher, is guardian of this tribe which has Miss Mary Ryan as president.

Keokuk camp, named after an Indian chief who stood for peace and by many a historian given a higher place than Black Hawk, came into being in March, 1919. Misses Edna Keesey, high school teacher, is guardian and Miss Clara Aker is president.

Wendat, the third and last to organize in December 1919, means people of one speech. Miss Emily Mooser, children's librarian at the public library, is guardian for this camp. Miss Elsie Ward is president.

Girls From 12 to 20

Girls from 12 to 20 years old are eligible, hence the local camps include high school girls. The organization was originally formed with the purpose to promote good health, encourage economy, effect social improvements, and feature outdoor work. A severe test of accomplishments along the line of

M. E. REVIVAL GETS UNDER FULL SWING; TO LAST SIX WEEKS

The six weeks revival meetings at the Methodist church are getting under full swing. It is expected that this week will be one of the best weeks in the series, in that so many other churches are observing this season week in the spirit and message of evangelism. Last night was Children's night. The children's chorus, led by Miss Aruba Gray with 40 boys and girls in the chorus, made the services full of pep. Many fathers and mothers were in attendance with the children.

Tonight is Sunday school night and the singing will be led by a chorus of Sunday school officers and teachers. At the close of the services tonight a meeting of the Sunday school officers and teachers will be held.

Rev. Franklin F. Lewis is preaching each night. Rev. Lewis believes that while evangelists may be necessary and useful in many instances, it is the business of the ministers and the churches to be their own evangelists.

"When each pastor was his own evangelist leading his people in Gospel campaigns the church invaded the world and thousands were converted to God," he said. "But when they turned the work over to professional evangelists a decrease in membership was reported all up and down the line." It is not an easy piece of work to stir up the church today in genuine soul-saving effort, says this pastor, but it can be done. Mr. Lewis says, "we are not taking in washing, but we are willing to do our own."

NEW YORK VICE WAR GRAND JURY OPENED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, March 30.—The extraordinary grand jury today opened E. Smith, Police Inspector Dom-in New York's vice war by calling Detective John J. Gunson, recently indicted on charges of bribery and extortion, as its first witness in the investigation of the conduct of Assistant District Attorney James Henry in the "tenderloin district."

Political announcement authorized and to be paid for at the rate of 75c per inch by citizens interested in the candidacy of Mrs. Fred Sutherland for School Commissioner at Large.

A number of citizens urged Mrs. Fred Sutherland to stand as a candidate for school commissioner, at large. They had no political axe to grind and no personal or selfish purposes to accomplish. They acted from one motive only, and that was the good and welfare of our city. The interests of our schools and our children were all they thought of. They felt that the school board is no place for the nursing of personal ambitions. They also felt that now more than ever before harmony and disinterested service on the board is greatly needed. After thoroughly canvassing the whole situation, they asked Mrs. Sutherland to stand for this office. She consented to run only after she became convinced that doing so was merely answering the call of a citizen's duty to the community. The people of Janesville are indeed fortunate because of her decision. Her interest in the schools and her qualification to understand their needs and those of the teachers, will make her a valuable and efficient member of the school board. The citizens who urged her to run for this office believe that, when their fellow-citizens investigate the situation, they will gladly support and elect her.

Fighting Hunger

Hunger is never more than a few days away from the American people.

The coal strike showed us what a narrow margin the country goes on, even in a non-perishable necessity which can be stored.

Swift & Company is engaged in the business of fighting hunger.

From coast to coast, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf, the lines of defense are drawn—packing plants at strategic points; branch houses in four hundred towns and cities; hundreds of car routes; thousands of refrigerator cars; tens of thousands of loyal men and women expert in their work.

Day by day, hour by hour ceaselessly, this fight, your fight, goes on. Yet so smoothly, surely and victoriously that you, unaware how close hunger always is, are as certain each night of tomorrow's meat as you are of tomorrow's sun.

And so economically is this done that the cost to you for this service is less than three cents a pound of meat sold. The profits shared in by more than 30,000 shareholders whose money makes the victory possible is only a fraction of a cent a pound on all products.

If hunger did not make it necessary for us to fight this fight in the best possible way for all concerned, the competition of hundreds of other packers, large and small, would compel us.

STATE SUN SAVING PLAN IS FAVORED

Moving Clocks Ahead Not Advocated Here as Purely Local Proposition.

Without daylight saving being a general movement and being taken up not only as affecting the entire city but all others in the state and surrounding states, it would not be advisable for Janesville to tackle it. It is the consensus of opinion of business men of this city. No haphazard methods are advocated.

Meriton F. Isa, president of the Bank of Southern Wisconsin, sums the question up as follows: "It would create bad complications to have daylight saving if it were not general, not only here but in surrounding cities as well. We are not ready to take it up. Moreover, it would affect our farmer depositors were we to close at what would be their 2 o'clock if the plan were put into effect only in this city."

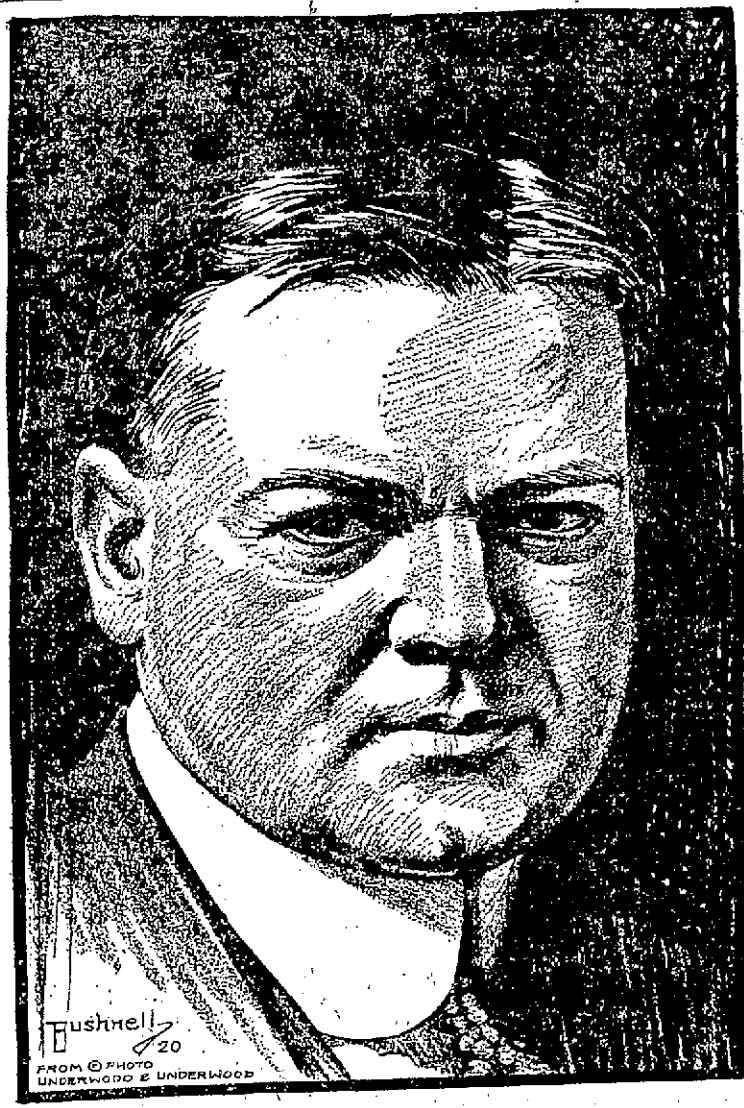

Others Feel Similarly. Frank H. Jackman of the Rock County National bank made the same comment, but added that his institution would do what the other banks of the city consider best. At the Merchants & Savings bank, Samuel M. Smith, cashier, stated that if others of the banks favor it, his bank would fall in line, but that he cannot favor it, which sentiment was voiced at the Bower City bank. Grocers have not given the matter any thought though Edward Winslow stated if the plan becomes general enough they might take it under consideration at a meeting. Whether the grocers will close all day Wednesday as in other years when the weather gets warmer is another matter which has not yet come up for discussion, he said.

Seven Institutions In Line. In addition to the Samson Tractor company, the Lewis Knitting Mills and the Parker Pen company, who have announced they will start working earlier commencing the first of April, the following state that they will start their day earlier the first of the month: Harry V. Ross, printer; Edward Amerophl, florist; Aircraft Printing company; Buggs & Broege, vulcanizing.

Sidney Bostwick of J. M. Bostwick & Sons favors the plan and may open that store an hour earlier but they have made no definite decision. The Automotive Machine company will do so if the majority feel. Blodgett-Holmes company, millers, plan to take the matter up with its men. Brittingham & Hixon state it does not make any difference with them but that they probably will take no action. Wisconsin Electrical Sales company, says it will do what the majority do.

MERLIN HULL GIVES ADDRESS IN MILTON

[By Gazette Correspondent.]

Milton, March 30.—The people of Milton were given a treat Sunday night, when Merlin Hull, secretary of state of Wisconsin, gave an address upon the topic, "The Church as a Business Institution." The address was timely and was presented in a logical, well-defined and forceful manner. The speaker clearly showed the place and power of the Christian church in effecting local and national reforms for civic, social, moral and religious welfare. Mr. Hull convincingly proved that it was the voice of the church that ultimately brought annihilation to the monstrous system of human slavery in America; that challenged and defeated the pernicious political Louisiana lottery; that attacked and exposed the viciousness of the infamous liquor traffic and was a potent factor in writing the eighteenth amendment into the constitution of the United States; Avalon.

and that it will be the church which will be a mighty factor in curbing and curing the national and international units of unrest and revolution. The address was given under the auspices of the Brotherhood of the Seventh-Day Baptist church.
